

Fuzion Collective Director

Fuzion Collective are Stefan Baumgartner (director) and Simon Fraissler (camera) who both graduated with a degree in "Multimedia Art (Film)". While still at university they shot their first feature documentary "Behind the Screen" (2011) for which they won prizes at various film festivals around the globe including "Leeds International Filmfestival" and "Deauville Green Awards". Subsequently "Fuzion Collective" specialised in creating video-content for brands. Rooted in skateboard- and music-sub-culture their work always focuses on authenticity and rhythm. The fresh documentary style opens up new possibilities to communicate a brand's message in an authentic way.