For the second time Tobias Datum is nominated for an EMMY AWARD for Outstanding Cinematography For A Single Camera Series (Half Hour) for Mozart in the Jungle.

The TV series is produced for Amazon Studios. Written and developed by Roman Coppola, Jason Schwartzman, Alex Timbers and Paul Weitz, this is the second time now in a row it has been nominated in this category.

40 episodes of the so called “dramady” have been aired so far. The series stars Gael Garcia Bernal, Lola Kirke, Malcom McDowell and Saffron Burrows, just to name a few.

Congratulations and fingers crossed!
