

Nik Söder

After completing his studies at the media school in Mainz, Nik began his career by primarily shooting fashion films. It was through creating social media clips for fashion brands such as Asphaltgold, Nike, Reebok, and Puma that his career gained momentum. During this period, Nik also began developing his visual language and strives to refine it daily through his passion for powerful and emotional imagery. He also enjoys capturing genuine moments to evoke specific moods in his work, a characteristic that has defined his artistic style to this day.
