Mejico is the Barcelona based directors duo Joaco Phelan and Bernat Eguiluz. It's a union of different worlds, different perspectives, different approaches but with the same objective: to create their work based on strong feelings that make images pulsate, narrating and showing them with a meticulous and raw nature, always aiming to connect to the deepest part of being. With their extensive knowledge of photography their work is marked by a pure and dynamic visual language which empowers their storytelling.
